

NIDEK LOOKS TO ALZHEIMER SCREENING LINK

Nidek UK supplier, Birmingham Optical Group, has applauded the advance made by scientists at University College London into the early diagnosis of Alzheimers.

“We are exploring the development in technology required to enable mass screening. As Nidek already has a strong position in retinal imaging technology, and with our experience on the High Street, we would be well placed to facilitate such a development,” said Birmingham Optical Group CEO, Chris Tyler.
